To be sure, every one who knows General Burchard, will know that there could possibly be no truth in such prisoner all last night at the office of Attorney F. F. Davis, who was retained in the interest of the Security bank, which holds a large amount of the forged paper. Cullom is a young lawyer whose father is also wealthy and prominent. It was preurranged that I should pay these bills, it being within the province of my department so to do. I therefore settled the account for the same, and the voucher presented by me therefor was paid from the state treasury. It is therefore not a fact that "the claim has since been disallowed." If the adjutant gen-eral is, as stated in the article referred to, blamed for the disallowance of the claim it is wholly without justification, and an act of gross injustice to him.

There is not the slightest grounds for the statement contained in the article connecting General Burchard with the arrangements made for the subsistence of the visiting officers at the time stated.

It is hoped for decency sake that the Evening Wisconsin, which led off in this outrageous attack on General Burchard, will be fair enough to print Quartermaster General Griffin's defense of the adjutant general. Common justice simply demands that it shall put itself right on this question, and that it shall deal fairly

This is pretty good authority from a democratic paper that a judge who tries to do his duty in Arkansas touching these who are charged with political murder, is compelled to leave the state.

SAND SPOUT IN THE DESERT.

Graphic Description of a Striking Scene in Africa. Under the fairest skies the desert is an awesome solitude, but when a storm comes it is terrible and appalling. I shall never forget a scene I witnessed some forty miles beyond the great pyramids, says a writer in the New York Mail and Express. I had gained an isoloted hillock, some two hundred feet above the level of the surrounding desert. Away to the west, about two miles distant, I descried six or seven lofty pillars of sand moving swiftly over the undulating plain.
The center one of these was vertical, and those surrounding it, at a distance of two or three hundred yards, leaned slightly toward it. The sand at the base of the columns was lashed by the furious whirlwind into a surging sea. Desert trees of the hardest wood were torn up with their roots and hurled hundreds of yards away a loving wife would yield to her husband's and high up into the air; even the grass suggestion to put an unknown powder in that grew in the path of the terrible his food. storm was shorn clear away from its roots. The summits of those columns of sand at length joined, and then burst forth from The Victims Bound and Gagged and Left their united tops a yellow gigantic cloud of sand of such magnitude and density as darken the setting sun for more than an

So far as can be learned this clock is the most simply devised thing ever invented and must not be confounded with the so-called electric clocks now made, which are only self-winding and have a barrel and a mainspring. The Akron clock has neither, and in fact is so simple that a little child can see into it. There are a few details yet required, but in a short time a complete and elaborate description of it will be given.

MISUSED HIS BENEFACTOR

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Aug. 8.—John S. Blaisdell, one of the oldest and wealthiest citizens of Minneapolis, discovered yester-day that forgeries to the amount of $267,-000 had been committed in his name. The forger is J. Frank Collum, of the firm of Rockwood & Collum, attorneys at 220 Temple court this city. The guilty man has been Mr. Blaisdell's attorney and had befriended the young man in business transactions, going so far as to indorse his note for $15,000. The young fellow made the state administration, there is not one more prompt and business-like than General Burchard.

The Gazett e notes with pleasure that Quartermaster Gene ral Griffin has seen fit to answer these reckless and unfair and an arrangement was made whereby the entire amount of the forgeries was to be paid over to Mr. Blaisdell, the latter agreeing not to prosecute, but the newseral Burchard's "extreme fondness for red tape," or on any other account, I am out of pocket to the extent of any sum or amount whatever for advences and the matter has assumed a different phase.

TRAIN ROBBERY IN COLORADO.

The Express Manager Defends His Car-Passengers Forced to Contribute. DENVER, Col., Aug. 7.—A dispatch re-ceived says the Rio Grande Western "Modoc" train was held up near Slevasse last night by train robbers. Two of them boarded the baggage car at Thompson Springs and climbed over the car to the ngines where they pointed revolvers at the heads of the engineer and fireman and the heads of the engineer and fireman and compelled them to stop the train. They forced the fireman to attempt to chop through the doors of the express car and made the engineer bring a bag to hold the plunder. Messenger Willis was ready with a magazine shotgun and two self-cocking revolvert. The fireman was unable to chop through the boiler-iron door, so the robbers fired a dozen shots through the car. The messenger lay on the floor members of the gang back in a passenger car and arranged a new plan. Leaving one man to guard the conductor and one with the fireman, a third handed the brakeman a sack, and, pointing a cocked revolver at his head, compelled him to walk ahead through the train, where he collected $900 and a number of gold watches. The ladies upon the train were were not disturbed, and a number of magnetic and a n culine passengers took advantage of the exhibition of chivalry to turn over to them the valuables in their keeping. One passenger put his head out of the window to see what was going on, and the robbers sent a bullet through his hat. Most of the passengers were forced to give up their valuables, those losing them being too frightened to hide them. This could be found in her infidelity, which had rendered it necessary for her to enter into inextricable mazes of lying. He also called particular attention to the phrase, "He is sick unto death," in her letter to Brighty. This was tarribly important to Brierly. This was terribly important, in view of the fact that on the day the letter was written the doctors fully expected Mr. Maybrick would recover. It showed there was reason for believing that the prisoner was desirous of being rid of her husband in order that she might live with her

THE PRESIDENT AT BOSTON. Reception of the Chief Executive in the Boston, Mass., Aug. 8.—President Harrison and his party arrived here at 9:30 a. m. As early as 8 o'clock crowds began to gather about the station, and when the train arrived the depot and adjacent streets were packed with humanity. At 8:30 Lieut.-Gov. Brackett and staff and Mayor Hart made their way to the platform accompanied brackett and statt and Mayor Hart made their way to the platform, accompanied by Lieut.-Col. Mansfield, of the United States engineer corps, who is detailed as a special aid to the President. Immediately upon the arrival of the train Lieut.-Gov. Brackett boarded the special car and cordially greeted the chief executive.

The party then left the train and moved along the platform to the Kneeland street entrance; where carriages were in waiting to convey the guests to the Hotel Vendome. When the President appeared at the entrance cheer after cheer went up from the crowd, and the enthusiasm was from the crowd, and the enthusiasm was continued along the entire route. The President bowed his acknowledgements. The party was escorted by the first battalion of cavalry and a police detail. Many of the buildings and stores along the route were gay with flags, buntaged and appropriate emblanes and the ing, and appropriate emblems, and the sidewalks, windows, and streets were thronged with people anxious to get a view of the President.

On reaching the hotel the President and party, with the guests invited by Acting-Governor Brackett on the part of the State, sat down to the tables in the marble breakfast room. No remarks or formality occurred. After a brief rest the President occurred. After a brief rest the President entered the beautiful ebony room, and there received the officers of the State and city, Federal officers, officers of the United States army and navy, Mayors of cities, and others to whom invitations had been sent. About five hundred persons paid their respects to the President.

At the close of the reception President Harrison rested quietly until 12:45, when the party started for Faneuil hall, where the popular reception began at 1:30 p. m. The departure from the hotal was cheered by the dense crowd. The reception at Faneuil hall was largely attended, thousands being unable to gain admittance before the hour for the close of the ceremony. The party then returned to the mony. The party then returned to the Vendome, receiving, as before, enthusi-astic greeting from the crowds that lined

The party returned to the hotel about 3 p. m. and partook of luncheon with Mayor Hart. There was no formality. At 5:30 the President was taken out for a drive in Boston's suburbs. After the President returned from his drive a banquet was tendered by the State to the President and a select party. No speeches were made. The President retired at 11 p. m. and resumed his journey Thursday morning.

Mrs. Harrison Going to Nantucket.

New York, Aug. 8.—Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, wife of the President, arrived in this city Wednesday, accompanied by her maid and Col. Wilson. They spent a short time in this city before going on board steamer for Boston, whither Mrs. Harrison said she was hastily summoned from Deer Park to go to the bedside of her sister, Mrs. Scott Lord, who is very ill at Nantucket. Mrs. Harrison will go direct from Boston to Nantucket. She intends returning to Deer Park as soon as she can returning to Deer Park as soon as she can get away from Nantucket. She has no intention of visiting Bar Harbor.

OUR SOUTH AMERICAN TRADE

Facts Set Forth for the Enlighten ment of Secretary Blaine. New York, Aug. 8.—Secretary Blaine wrote to the New York board of trade and transportation some time ago asking for suggestions with regard to the international American Congress to be held in Washington Oct. 20 next. A committee was then appointed to draw up a report year, said the committees report, and of this the United States sends but 74 per cent. Of the $105,000,000 worth imported by Brazil the United States sends but 8 per cent. The imports of South and Central America are over $400,000,000, and of this the United States sells 11 per cent, or $50,000,000. The United States should claim at least 50 per cent of these, the committeemen think. Neither do they see any reason why American merchants should send their goods to Brazil via Liverpool, Hamburg, or Havre. They want direct, rapid, and prompt transpor-tation to Central and South America. Mr. Blaine. Another committee was appointed to take part in organizing the

A GREAT BAILROAD.

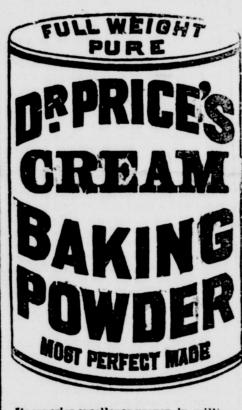

Not long ago Mr. George H. Daniels. the general passenger agent of the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad. in extending an invitation to foreigners to visit this country, directed their attention to the fact that the United States of America is the greatest country on earth, peopled with sixty million of the most civilized and enterprising people on the globe; that the New York Central Railroad, is the greatest railroad on earth-the only four-track road in the world; that it started from the largest city on the continent, passed through the richest and most prosperous region, touching the largest cities in the interior; is the great trunk line and direct route to that great cataract, Niagara Falls, and that in all respects it reveals more of the resources and riches of America in less time, with more safety, and under more luxurious conditions, than any other route. There is much in the above not only for foreigners, who want to see this country under favorable conditions, but for our own restless and moving people. The New York Central & Hudson River Railroad is the outgrowth of a luxurious and prosperous civilization and one of its great-est engineering triumphs. As is well known it is the only line from the west to New York that lands its passengers in that city without ferrying them neross that city without ferrying them across the North river. Its spacious and magnificent station in the heart of the city has been for years not only the pride of New York but a lasting monument to the foresighted librality and enterprise of that great organizer and founder of the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad system, Commodore Vanderbilt. The limited trains of this line are the stroyed by Fire. FORT WAYNE, Ind., Aug. 8.-At 7 o'clock Wednesday evening a fire originating in the fourth story of Renner, Cratsley & Co.'s large book store totally destroyed the stock and badly damaged the building, owned by the Trentman estate. The other part of the building was occupied by Stern, Mautner & Friedlich with a large stock of clothing and gents' furnishing goods, which was badly damaged. The adjoining building, owned by H. G. Wagner and occupied by Lewis Woolf & Co., dry goods, was badly damaged by water. The losses are as follows: Trentman estate, $15,000, insured $10,000; Renner, Cratsley & Co. loss $40,000 insured $20,000. Stern & Co., loss $40,000, insured $30,000; Stern, Mautner & Freidlich, loss $15,000, insured $21,500; Lewis Woolf & Co., loss $25,000, insured $42,000; H. G. Wagner, loss $5,000, fully insured.

ANTIGO, Wis., Aug. 8 .- Davis Brothers' mill at Bryant was totally destroyed by fire Tuesday, together with the house of Charles Davis, the boarding house, warehouse, about $2,500 worth of shingles, and a large amount of logs. The loss will amount to about $25,000 or $20,000, with about $15,000 insurance. The fire started about noon in the engine house. Charles Davis barely escaped with his life. There being no telegraph communication outside help could not be summoned.

Severe Storm in Minnesota. HALLOCK, Minn., Aug. S .- Certain portions of Kittson county were visited by a severe thunder and hail storm. Houses and barns were struck by lightning and wheat fields are damaged if not destroyed by hail. Some fields escaped without any loss, as the storm went in streaks. Over two hundred lights of glass were broken in Hallock and vicinity. No loss of life by lightning has been reported.

PECULIARITIES OF AUTHORS. Bentley composed after playing a pre-lude on the organ or while taking his "ante-jentacular" or "post-prandial"

Rabelais composed his "Life of Gargantua" at Bulay in the company of Roman cardinals and under the eyes of the bishop of Paris Corneille, in his lofty flights, was often brought to a standstill for the want of a baggage wagon. word, which was commonly supplied by his brother Thomas. Rousseau wrote his works early in the morning; Le Sage, at midday; Byron, at midnight. Aristotle awoke early and worked until he slept.

Pope never could compose well without first declaiming for some time at the top of his voice, and thus rousing his nervous system to its fullest activity. Demosthenes passed three months in a eavern by the seaside in laboring to overcome the defects of his voice. There he read, studied, and declaimed. Calvin studied in his bed. Every morning at 5 or 6 o'clock he had books, manuscripts, and papers carried to him there, and he worked on them for hours together. Buffon in writing his books used pages divided into five distinct columns. In the first column he wrote out the first draft; in the second he corrected and improved, and left here for Alfred Center, New York, so on to the fifth.

Richelleu amused himself in the intervals of his labor with a squadron of cats, of which he was very fond. He used to retire at 11, and, after sleeping three hours, rise and write or work. Voltaire was a most impatient writer.

and usually had the first half of a work set up in type before the second half was written. He always had several works in the course of composition at the same time. Milton was of the opinion that the verses omposed by him between the autumnal and spring equinoxes were always the best: while Alfleri, on the contrary, said that the equinoctial winds produced a state of almost "complete stupidity" in him. Of thirty verses which Virgil wrote in the morning only ten were left at night. Milton often cut down from forty to twenty. Buffon would condense six pages into as many paragraphs. Montaigne, instead of cutting down, amplified and added in his first sketches.

THE SALT OF THE EARTH. Salt and water cleans willow furniture. Salt in whitewash will make it stick better.

Wash the mica of the stove doors with salt and vinegar. Damp salt will remove the discoloration of cups and saucers caused by tea and careless washing.

When broiling steak throw a little salt on the coals and the blaze from dripping fat will not annoy. To clean willow furniture use salt and water. Apply it with a nail brush, scrub well, and dry thoroughly.

If, after having a tooth pulled, the mouth is filled with salt and water it will allay the danger of having a hemorrhage. Salt as a tooth powder is better than almost anything that can be bought. It keeps the teeth brilliantly white and the gums hard and rosy. Carpets may be greatly brightened by first sweeping thoroughly and then going over them with a clean cloth and clear salt and water. Use a cupful of coarse salt to a large basin of water. If the feet are tender or painful after long standing or walking great relief can be had by bathing them in salt and water. A handful of salt to a gallon of water is the right proportion. Have the water as hot as can comfortably be borne.

Sandford's Radcal Cure For Catarrh.

Cure Begins from First Application, and is Rapid, Radical, and Permanent.

It is the mucous membrane, that wonderful semi fluid envelope surrounding the delicate tissues of the air and food passages, that Catarrh makes its stronghold. Once established, it eats into the very vitals, and renders life but a long drawn breath of misery and disease, dulling the sense of hearing, trammeling the power of speech, destroying the faculty of smell, tainting the breath, and killing the refined pleasure of taste. Insidiously, by creeping on from y simple cold in the head, it assaults the membranous lining and envelopes the bones, eating through the delicate coats and causing inflammation, sloughing and death. Nothing short of total eradication will secure health to the prtient, and all alleviative are simply procrastinatinated sufferings, leading to nearth to the prinent, and all alleviative are simply procrastinatinated sufferings, leading to a fatal termination sanford's Radical Cure by Inhalation and by Internal administration have never failed: even when the disease had made frightful inroads on delicate constitutions hearing, smell and taste have been recovered and the disease thoroughly driven out. AND WASHINGTON.

If you are going west bear in mind the follow ng facts: The Northern Pacific Railroad owns and operates 987 miles, or 57 per cent. of the entire railroad mileage of Montana; spans the territory with its main lines from east to west: is the short line to Helena; the only Pullman and dining car line to Butte, and is the only line that reaches Miles City. Billings, Bozeman, Missoula, the Yellowstone National Park and, in fact, nine-tenths of the cities and points of interest in the territory.

The Northern Pacific owns and operates 621 miles or 56 per cent of the railroad mileage of Washington, its main line extending from the Idaho line via Spokane Falls, Cheney, Sprague, Yakima and Ellensburg, through the center of the territory to Tacoma and Seattle, and from Tacom to Portland. No other transcontinental through rail line reaches any portion of Washington Territory. Ten days stop over privileges are given on Northern Pacific second class tickets at Spokane Falls and all points west, thus affording intending settlers an excellent opportunity to see the entire territory without incurring the expense of paping local fares from point to point.

The Northern Pacific is the shortest route curring the expense of paping local fares from point to point.

The Northern Pacifiic is the shortest route from St. Paul to Tacoma by 207 miles: to Seattle by 177 miles, and to Portland by 324 miles—time correspondingly shorter, varying from one to two days, according to destination. No other line from St. Paul or Minneapolis runs through passenger cars of any kind into Idaho, Oregon or Washington.

In addition to being the only rail lin to Spokane Falls, Tacoma and Seattle, the orthern Pacific reaches all the principal points in Northern Minnesota and Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Oregon and Washington. Bear in mind that the Northern Pacific and Shasta line is the scenic route to all points in California.

broglio. FORT ATKINSON, Wis., August 6th, '89 Captain W. T. Vankirk. Chairman County Committee, Janesville.

My DEAR SIR:-I have received a copy of the Gazette of yesterday containing an editorial in regard to the appointment of a postmaster in your city, and hasten a few words in reply. The entire trouble has grown out of a refusal on the part of Mr. Bliss to submit to defeat, and the determination to obtain his appoint ment over my recommendation. By long usage the duty of selecting postmasters in republican districts is [placed upon the members of congress. I regret that it is so, but if I have that duty to perform I cannot permit an unsuccessful candidate to overrule my recommendation. If he could the contest would never end. I esteemed all the candidates highly and would have put trust in them all. At the close of the session in March, I expected to defer a decision until I could come home, and talk with your people. But for a week before my return letters and telegrams from the patrons of the office, asking for a change before I left the city, were overwhelming. I felt it my duty to act at once. Whether the President would remove Mr: Clark for any one, was quite a question, I inquired of Mr. Clarkson, the First Assistant Postmaster General, what would be the ruling of the department in a case of this kind. I stated to him the relative merits of the several candidates, without indicating the least my choice for either. That very eyening, without my knowledge, he talked with the president, who in laying down a rule to govern the department in such cases, said he could not remove Mr. Clark for another editor, like Mr. Bliss, or a political worker like by all these dispatches that the candidates would be entirely satisfied with then prepared the case, and for the first time made a recommendation. I selected Mr. Bowles. I never recom. mended Mr. Bliss, or told Mr. Clarkson necessary for me to say so. The Gazette states, "Mr. Caswell took the matter under eareful advisement, and decided to recommend Mr. Bliss, expressing his determination to Senators Sawyer and Spooner, and others. The situation was thoroughly understood by Mr. Bliss, and he felt perfectly safe in urging Mr. Caswell to make his recommendation before leaving Washington." This is a very great mistake. I "took the case under careful advisement, and decided," not to recommend Mr. Bliss, but Mr. Bowles.

from me, to the contrary, let him prothe senators, let them state it. If I ever informed Mr. Bliss that I intended to recommend him, let him state when and where, and what I said. It has not been my practice to inform candidates before a recommendation has been made, what my intentions are, and I made no exception in this case. On my return home to Wiscousin the last of March, Mr.

Bliss learned that I had recommended

Mr. Bowles instead of himself: and he at once appealed to the senators to overrule me. This is the first time during my service in congress that a candidate ever made the attempt. Yet, humiliated as I felt, fearing I may have done him injustice, instead of objecting to his appeal, I gave him all the facilities in my power, and on his requet, I sent the senators on the 8th of April, who were then in Washington, the following dispatch:

"Hon. John C. Spooner, Washington,

D. C .: - We want a change in the Janesville postooffice. All candidates are friendly to me. I delegate to you, and Sawyer, the selection of postmaster, the same as if I had made no recommendation. Will concur in your action; papers

I sent by mail letters and papers received by me after leaving Washington.

and wrote the senators, in substance as stated in the telegram. The Gazette states: "The senators took up the matter in the interests of Mr. Bliss, and fellowed it until confronted with the formal recommendation for Mr. Bowles, in the the face of which they refused to act."

Let the senators speak for themselves.

Here is their reply in a dispatch, which they on receipt of my telegram and letters sent to me, a copy of which they a surprise to me as it could have been to the people of your city. It became a question at once with me, whether my request was to be regarded in the selection of a postmaster. I had taken up

Mr. Bowles, when heavy work was needapprehension, as Mr. Bliss secured his ed; now that the way is made easy, by an appointment without defeat, but is de investigation, I am invited to drop him and take another. Some may think it right to select a soldier when there is no prospect of his appointment, but when the time comes when an appointment can be made, that I should put him aside and recommend another. This I could not afford to do, and represent the republican party of Rock county. If Mr Bowles was good enough to stand as the chosen candidate from the 25th of March till the middle of July, without objection from the patrons of the Janesville office. is he not good enough to receive the appointment, now that it can be had? cannot turn my back on him at this juncture for the best man in the world. have no objections to Mr. Bliss or any of the other candidates, but there are prope, channels through which appointmentshould be made. I have no doubt I said many words of sympathy, and expressed kind feelings toward Mr. Bliss; I certainly have felt that way. But he will remember my last words to him through the telephone in April that "Nothing could induce me to change my recommendation." It may be true that Mr. Bowles has not been active in politics, or contributed much to campaign funds, but there was a time when he offered his life, if necessary, for his country, while many who oppose him were here with me, in safety. If after was known Mr. Clark must go, I had desired the appointment of Mr. Bliss, instead of Mr. Bowles, could I not have said so to the postoffice department? If Mr. Clarkson and Mr, Bliss understood they were carrying out my wishes in naming the latter, why was the intention of his garded Mr. Bliss' petition very strongly. appointment concealed from me? Would it not have been more in accord with th settled practice, if Mr. Clarkson had telegraphed me that a change in the office could now be had, and inquired if wished to change my recommendation If Mr. Bliss supposed he was acting in accord with my wishes, why did he not apply to me when Mr. Clarkson telegraphed him, a short time before the appointment,-"that it would be well to secure my endorsement if he could.' and if Mr. Clarkson understood my endorsement of Mr. Bliss was already on or any other official, that I wanted him I file, why did he want another? It is appointed. He would have been en- perfectly clear, that the contemplated tirely acceptable to me, but it was not appointment of Mr. Bliss was to be kept such action stand without a protest. The thanks Mr. Bliss sent me after his apridiculous attitude before my constitu ents and the people of this state, and he sought to reconcile and console me. He had in effect, though I do not charge intentionally, sacrificed my office for the one he wanted. It has been urged that the Gazette office already has a full share of the benefits of party success, and duce and publish it. It I ever said so to that the Post Office might be given to some one of the soldiers of Rock county as a recognition of their great service. I confess these arguments had weight with me and I recommended Mr. Bowles with a good deal of relish. In ject. any event, having selected him I do not believe the republicans of Janesville want him thrust aside without cause. The question as to who would make the most popular postmaster in your city, ia not so much involved as the manner in which Mr. Bliss was named for this position. To allow him to succeed is to overthrow and trample under foot the relations I bear to the general government. If my recommendations are to be thus disregarded, what assurance have that my wishes are to be respected or regarded of value in the future? If the people of your city do not approve of my action, I shall regret it. But the consciousness of having done my duty, and dealt fairly with my fellow men, will be my reward. All the talk about dealing unfairly with Mr. Bliss, is wholly unfounded. He went into this contest without reason or precedent. I have nothing against him but I cannot let him trample down and destroy, though he does not intend it, the office which your people, with the balance of this district have so generously committed to my charge. It is said Mr. Bliss did not intend to violate either my rights or wishes. I am willing to accept this construction. I wish him no harm whatever, but I can not believe it my duty to desert Mr. Bowles, at this hour, and sanction the effort to take this office from Yours respectfully. L. B. CASWELL.

Mr. Bliss has no personal acquaintance with Mr. Clarkson, having never met him. He has the utmost confidence however, in his ability and integrity, and the investigation by the Inspector, and it consequently believes that he was acting in good faith with Mr. Caswell, and purely on the strength of his understanding of Mr. Caswell's wishes as ex pressed by that gentleman himself. When Captain S. J. M. Futnam was in

Why, then, his FORMAL recommendation for Mr. Bowles; that Mr. Clarkson wired in reply that he had acted upon his (Caswell's verbal recommendation for Mr. Bliss believing that he desired him appointed. Captain Putnam then assured Mr. Bliss that Mr. Caswell was satisfied with Mr. Clarkson's action, and said that he had a right to act as he had in the matter, and that Mr. Caswell did not blame Mr. Bliss for the course he had adopted. These statements were made and left as a message from Mr. Caswell to Mr. Bliss, a secret from me until announced. This and were afterwards repeated to Mr. is contrary to all usage, and I cannot see Bliss himself in his interview on the how it should be expected I could let train, refrred to in a previous statement. Mr. Caswell defies Mr. Bliss to produce a letter or telegram or statement pointment were uncalled for. was home during the holidays, he said to Mr. Smith, of the Gazette, that he appreciated what the paper had repeatedly done for him in the way of support, and would be very glad of an opportunity to show his appreciation by recommending Mr. Bliss if properly endorsed. He said substantially the same thing to Mr. Bliss himself, and added that he would recommend the man that the people seemed

Mr. Bliss believed that he was dealing with a man whose word even in politics was as good as his bond. Regarding the senators, Mr. Bliss de sires to state that they have refused to interfere with Mr. Caswell's rights in the premises. Senator Spooner said in a letter dated April 23d, 1889: "The talk I had with Mr. Caswell or

WOULD BE PLACED ON FILE WITHOUT DELAY." What Mr. Caswell intended to do prior to March 25th, is a question of some doubt; what he professed to desire was well understood by both Mr. Clarkson and Mr. Bliss. The latter, after long soquaintance, believed that his friendship was more than surface deep and of a nature that would not weaken at the first rebuff. When Mr. Caswell returned to Wisconsin early in April and expressed to Mr. Smith, and Mr. Bliss, and others. his deep regret at his insbility to serve the Gazette, and his willingness as ex_ pressed to Mr. Bliss and wired to the

Mr. Clarkson was willing to assume the responsibility, acting upon his undertanding of the matter as represented to him by Mr. Caswell.

Mr. Bliss has no desire to continue controversy that would only result in inury to the republican party. What he did to secure the appointment was done honestly, and with the firm conviction that he was acting in harmony with Mr. Caswell's wishes.

Considering her city, and Mr. Caswell had no right to inage, Mrs. McGuire is a woman of reterfere and thwart their desires.

The stereotyped story that the Gazette is already well taken care of in regard to public office, originated by one of the candidates for the postoffice and appears | concerning his aged morther. to have been used as "a sweet morsel" on the tongues of some of his ardent County Meath, near Dublin, Ireland. supporters, as well as now repeated by Emigrated with her husband, Matthew Mr. Caswell for personal exoneration. This is all a thin [subterfuge. The Gazette has never been favored with the emoluments of a national office, and it is and located at Racine, Wisconsin, where the only daily paper in the state of any influence and circulation that has thun ed to Wyocena township, in Columbia Mr. Caswell wastes words in behalf of until 1857, when Mr. McGuire died."

nity, and at the same time expresses his does he not carry out the expressed wishes of that constituency? The republicans of Janesville have a much greater regard for their rights and their manhood than the self-implied dignity of a servant whom they have appointed to carry out their wishes. In other words, the republicans of the first congressional district, especially the republicans of Janesville and Rock county, did not elect Mr. Caswell and give him carte-blanche to go down to Washington and designate the persons who should receive honors and emoluments; but rather, they elected Mr. Caswell to go down to Washington and voice their opinions and farther the expressed wishes of the people of the communities to which such honors and emoluments belong. The prerogative belongs with the people; the duty to execute only has been delegated for convenience to Mr. Caswell: He would assume more.

Mr. Caswell's regard for his constitue ney is measured by his words. "Nothing could induce me to change my recommendation," he reiterates concerning Mr. Bliss. This is strong and decisive language from a servant of the reople. and the gentleman knows well its meaning. In the face of this, Congressmen Caswell received a delegation of gentle men from this city on Tuesday evening, the gentleman representing all interests of our city, and were representative men. Mr: Caswell again expressed to this delegation a strong desire to comply with the wishes of the republicans of Janesville, and laid great stress on the demands of the grand army men. The delegation proposed to him that the matter be left to a vote of the republicans of Janeeville. This he declined to entertain. Then the delegation proposed to leave regardles of party lines. This was also declined. Then he was asked to refer the matter to the grand army men of Janesville, which was likewise declined. "Nothing can induce me to change my recommendatien." "To ALLOW BLISS TO SUCCEED I. ERAL GOVERNMENT. If MY RECOM-MENDATIONS ARE TO BE THUS HAVE I that my wishes are to be respected or valued in the future?" writes Mr. Caswell to Captain Vankirk. These are strong words and is an admission from Mr. Caswell that no matter how strongly expressed the wishes of the people may be, his own desires must first be satisfied, and that his desire to faithfully represent his constituency is
